

THE CENTENNIAL REVIEW

VOLUME XV • 1971

CONTENTS

NUMBER ONE

- William O. Reichert*, Woman, Violence, and Social Order in America 1
- Paul R. Sweet*, Wilhelm von Humboldt (1767-1835); His Legacy to the Historian 23
- James Gindin*, Megalotopia and the WASP Backlash: The Fiction of Mailer and Updike 38
- Charlotte Spivack*, Job and Faust: The Eternal Wager 53
- Henry Wasser*, Recent Developments in Scandinavian University Governance 70
- Robert Kantra*, The Legitimate but Unchristened Genre of Tragicatire 84
- Jean-Marie Grassin*, Western Trails: The American Scene in Saint-John Perse's Poems 99

NUMBER TWO

- Scott N. Swisher*, Professional Education, the University and the Community: The Emergence of a New Synthesis 127
- Stephen C. Moore*, Contemporary Criticism and the End of a Literary Revolution 144
- Arthur D. Epstein*, Coleridgean Reconciliation in Euripides' Bacchae 162
- David Ignatow*, Four Poems 174
- Carol Berge*, Three Poems 177
- Jeff McCormick*, The Snow Birds 179
- Paul Bennett*, A Poet Returns to Campus 181
- Chong-Do Hah*, Dean Rusk and Communist China 182
- Grant McMillan*, Ishmael's Dilemma—The Significance of the Fiery Hunt 204
- Robert Phillips*, A Voice Through a Cloud: Denton Welch's Ultimate Voyage 218

NUMBER THREE

- Richard Kostelanetz*, Machine Art 229

Nina Baym, Hawthorne's Women: The Tyranny of Social Myths	250
Gordon R. Mork, Eduard Lasker (1829-1884): Thoughts on the Relevance of Studying Obscure, Dead Politicians	273
Daniel Hoffman, Three Poems	288
John Woods, Two Poems	291
Peter Trumbull, Poems on the Death of My Grandfather	292
Herbert N. Schneidau, Like Father, Like Son: The Bible, the Generation Gap, and History	296
David Stouck, The Surveyor of the Custom-House: A Narrator for The Scarlet Letter	309
David Burrows, Interiors: Ritual, Art, and Games in the Field of Symbolic Action	330

NUMBER FOUR

Paul A. Varg, A War-time Crisis in Sino-American Relations	347
Joan Dassin, The Dialectic of Recurrence: The Relation of the Individual to Myth and Legend in Thomas Mann's Joseph and His Brothers	362
Helene Moglen, The Double Vision of Wuthering Heights: A Clarifying View of Female Development	391
Robert W. Uphaus, Sentiment and Spleen: Travels with Sterne and Smollett	406
Barbara Drake, Four Poems	422
A. J. M. Smith, A Little Death to Laugh About	426
Michael Miller, The Cocksure Years	427
D. F. Petteys, The Terrors of Audubon	428
Henry B. Rule, Henry Adams' Satire on Human Intelligence: Its Method and Purpose	430
C. J. Gianakaris, MacLeish's Herakles: Myth for the Modern World	445

